China Travel Service (Taiwan) Limited had once been the Department of Travel as established by The Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank in 1923, and it was renamed China Travel Service Limited in 1927 as an independent entity. It was the first travel agency in China and was fully capitalized by the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank. In 1928, the travel agent set up its branch office in Hong Kong.

Before 1948, it had a total of 80 branches, units, and guest houses in 36 cities all over China and in 1946, it established its branch office in Taipei, which also became Taiwan's first travel agent. In 1949, the communist occupation of the Mainland dealt a severe blow to China Travel Service(CTS). The company ceased its administrative power over all its field offices and hotels in Mainland China and Hong Kong. As CTS operational zone shrank drastically. The company's only two field offices are those in Taipei and Keelung and was re-registered using the name China Travel Service (Taiwan) Limited, as the 1st travel agency in Taiwan, while the Republic of China(Taiwan) government was removed to Taiwan.

Currently, China Travel Service(Taiwan) is still a subsidiary fully capitalized by the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank and in addition to the management of inbound and outbound tours, the travel agency has also invested in leisure hotels and has been handling cargo-related business.

As Taiwan 1st travel agent, we commit to provide the most high quality of our tourism products, and must be with ethical and innovative. Meanwhile, we would work together with the industry to share the beauty of Taiwan to our good friends around the world. With us to know Taiwan amazing landscapes, meet our lovely people, and enjoy the unforgettable activities. Make a wish, and see you in Taiwan soon.

Taipei 101 -

Located in the finest district Taipei has to offer, TAIPEI 101 is the largest engineering project ever in the history of the Taiwan construction business. Supported by a dozen or so domestic businesses. At 382 meters above the ground the 89F Observation Floor offers visitors a commanding view of the city and Taipei Basin at all directions. The world's largest damper, weighing 660 metric tons, is also exhibited at this level. The Observatory is equipped with high - power binoculars, drinks bar, image services, pre-recorded audio tour guides in seven languages, & souvenir shops. TAIPEI 101 Observatory's elevators are Guinness Record - breaking high-speed pressurized elevators in 2004, with a speed of 1010 meters per minute. It takes only 37 seconds to reach the 89th Floor.

Taipingshan National Forest Recreation Area -

Taipingshan National Forest Recreation Area is located at Datong Township, Yilan, a northeast county in Taiwan. Currently, it is managed by Luodong Forest District Office, Forest Bureau. The tract of Taipingshan National Forest Recreation Area is very huge, reaching 12,929.52 hectares, among it, the sites of Tuchang, Jioujihze, Jhongjian, Taipingshan, Maosing and Cueifong Lake are open to public recreation. Recreation Area is bountiful of trees constituting the green mountainous landscape, which harbors hot springs, sea of clouds, snow, waterfalls and lakes. Furthermore, the fresh air is full of phytoncides and anions given off from the plants. It is the best destination for those who aspire to embrace nature or outdoor recreations.

Yehliu Geopark -

One of the premier destinations in northern Taiwan, Yehliu Geopark is home to a number of unique geological formations including the iconic "Queen's Head", and is located along a cape stretching out from the town of Wanli. Part of the Daliuo Miocene Formation, the cape stretches around 1,700 meters, formed as thousands of years of geological movement forced the Datun Mountains to change their shape, jutting out into the ocean.

National Palace Museum -

The National Palace Museum houses the world's largest collection of priceless Chinese art treasures, one which spans China's nearly 5,000-year history. Most of the museum's over 600,000 art objects were part of the Chinese imperial collection, which began over 1,000 years ago in the early Song dynasty.

Qingshui Cliff -

Situated between Heren and Chongde on the Su-Hua Highway, Qingshui Cliff is a big formed by Chongde, Qingshui and Heping mountain coastal cliffs. Creating a magnificent scene, it stretches more than 21km and rises vertically from the Pacific Ocean, with an average height of over 800m. This section of cliff is composed of gneiss and marble. It has risen straight up on the eastern coast of Taiwan for thousands of years. The route along the Qingshui Cliff is the only coastal road in Taroko National Park. The site of the Qingshui Cliff was designated in 1953 by the Taiwan government as one of the island's "Eight Wonders."

Taroko National Park -

Taroko National Park is one of Taiwan's most beautiful sights. Created by the continual rising of the mountains combined with the erosive power of the Liwu River, Taroko Gorge with its tall, almost flat walls are a true marvel to view. Besides the gorge, other attractions include aboriginal settlements, temples, museums, and numerous hiking trails for visitors to experience the true beauty of mountainous Hualien County and eastern Taiwan.

Dulan -

Luanshan Tribe perches on Dulan Mountain at the southern end of the Coastal Mountains Range and features the best preserved Ficus-Machilus forest zone in Taiwan. Without fences, buildings and electricity, the tribe is an outdoor forest museum in a rainforest setting as if the scenario of the film Avatar. Banyan trees have adventitious prop roots that develop and extend to the ground. The roots mature, form secondary trunks around the host tree, and will steal its place as it decays away. Because it seems as if banyan trees here can move across the forest, they are also named as the "walking trees."

Sun Moon Lake -

The fatal attraction of Sun Moon Lake is its changeable beautiful landscape. If you stay here for the entire day, you will see the variant miens of Sun Moon Lake – from the mountains surrounded with mist in the morning to the mirror-like lake colored by the sunset, they have shown a comfort that calms people's spirit and mind.

Xitou National Forest Recreation Area -

The Xitou Forest Recreational Area is one of the concave valleys surrounded by mountains in three sides. The highest mountain is Lingtong Mountain in the south with sea level 2,025m. It extends in north to Fenghuang Mountain Range to form the east mountain boundary of this area. It extends in west to Neishu and mountain range, which extends to north forming the south and west mountain boundaries in this area. The streams flow between the mountain range and the exit is in the north. The sea level of major area is 800-2000m.

Lukang -

Lukang was the second largest town in Taiwan. The history of the town of Lukang has been characterized by rapid change. In the 17th century, Dutch occupiers used Lukang as a major Harbor for exports; in 1784 it was designated as the Taiwan seaport for shipping links with the Hanchiang Harbor of Chuanchou on the coast of mainland China.

Thereby becoming the gateway to central Taiwan. At that time the town was crowded and busy, the facing streets with awnings, creating the famous "no sky" market area. Once you visit Lukang, you will soon realize what a charming Town, and enjoy the history with culture in Lukang.

Tainan -

is the oldest city in Taiwan. With its time-honor 300-year history, the city is well woven into the fabric of rich culture and interesting anecdotes. Details hidden inside the corners of streets, they yield the footprints left behind by ancestors as well as those precious, little stories being passed down generation by generation. Go on a gate trip to see and feel how Tainan, also once "Prefecture City", has evolved and developed, and how those ancient gates closely interact with its geography, commerce and human activities. There are also many important heritage sites in Tainan. Due to traditional architectures and the surroundings around being revived and renovated, local art, industrial activities, and sightseeing are hence enhanced accordingly.

Kaohsiung Formosa Boulevard Station -

Ranked second-most beautiful metro station in the world, the Formosa Boulevard Station is definitely a site to be seen while visiting Kaohsiung.

The station is known for its "Dome of Light", the largest glass work in the world, designed by Italian artist Narcissus Quagliata. It is 30 metres in diameter and covers an area of 2,180 square metres, made up of 4,500 glass panels.

Alishan National Scenic Area -

250 years ago, a chief of the Tsou tribe went hunting in a mountain and had great gains. In memory of the chief, the Tsou tribe named the Alishan. During the Japanese occupation, the Japanese chopped the forests and shipped the wood back to Japan. However, the deforestation had irritated the tree god that the Japanese set up a tower to worship the tree god.

Alishan is very famous for the sunrise view and the cloud ocean. The clouds are so dense and thick that the mountaintops appear like islands on the cloud ocean. The best time to watch the cloud season is autumn and visitors can go to Ziyun Temple, Alishan Hotel, Alishan Rail Station, Zaoping Park and the first parking lot. In addition, the Alishan Forest Railway is also very famous because it is one of the three mountain rails in the world.

Taiwan's total land area is about 36,000 square kilometers (14,400 square miles). It is shaped like a leaf that is narrow at both ends. It lies off the southeastern coast of mainland Asia, across the Taiwan Strait from China - an island on the western edge of the Pacific Ocean. To the north is Japan; to the south is the Philippines. Many airlines fly to Taiwan, making it the perfect travel destination.

Taiwan lies on the western edge of the Pacific "rim of fire," and continuous tectonic movements have created majestic peaks, rolling hills and plains, basins, coastlines, and other natural landscapes. Taiwan's tropical, sub-tropical, and temperate climates provide clear differentiation between the different seasons. There are rare or endangered species of wildlife on the island. Among these are the land-locked salmon, Taiwan serow, Formosan rock monkey, Formosan black bear, blue magpie, Mikado pheasant, and Hsuehshan grass lizard.
